SPURS MEDIA SERVICES

GENERAL As the season progresses, additional information is available by contacting the Spurs Public Relations Director Wayne Witt or the Media Services Manager Matt Sperisen through the Spurs offices at (512-554-7787) or at their homes (512-341-7877) and (512-492-7787). The Spurs are anxious to receive fair and accurate coverage by the media and as a result staff members will strive to meet reasonable requests.

CREDENTIALS Official Spurs media passes are required for admission to HemisFair Arena games and for admission to media facilities inside the Arena. There is only one exception to this rule; that persons with official NBA passes will be admitted. The Spurs have two types of media passes: 1) a permanent, season-long pass will be issued to each media person who covers the Spurs on a regular basis; 2) for those media persons covering the Spurs on a periodic basis, the club provides a single-game pass for specific nights. These are working passes, and they are intended for working media persons only. Credential information is available by contacting Wayne Witt, and requests must be made prior to noon on game day.

MEDIA GATE Media passes will be honored only at the Media Gate located in the Arena's main arcade nearby the Spurs ticket windows. Again, only an official Spurs media pass or an official NBA media pass will be recognized.

MEDIA ROOM The Spurs Media Room is located at end-court, nearby the Spurs locker room, and is open one and one-half hours prior to tipoff. Dinner and beverages are provided for working members of the media, and admission is by official Spurs or NBA passes. Telephones and work areas are available.

PRESS ROW Seating at the Spurs courtside press row is absolutely limited to media persons covering that particular game. Space is by reservation prior to noon through Wayne Witt on gameday.

SERVICES Prior to gametime, up-to-date rosters, statistics and game notes are made available to working members of the media in the Media Room. During the game, quarterly play-by-play accounts will be provided as will halftime and final game statistics. Quick statistics are distributed during the game. Fax services will be available on request.

RADIO AND TELEVISION Accredited radio and television crews will be seated courtside in the HemisFair Arena. Call-letter banners will not be allowed at courtside. Please ask the Spurs for specified area where banners can be displayed at courtside. If statisticians are required, arrangements must be made 24 hours in advance through the Spurs publicity office, and it is the responsibility of the visiting broadcasters to arrange payment. In accordance with NBA policy, payment must be in cash; the minimum is $25. The Spurs publicity office will assist with arranging interviews for tape or live broadcast.

TELEVISION CAMERA LOCATIONS In the HemisFair Arena, camera locations are on the mezzanine level and at end court nearest the visitors bench. No other camera locations are available without permission of the Spurs staff.

PRESS PHOTOGRAPHERS Accredited photographers will be permitted courtside in the HemisFair Arena. Credentials should be requested through the Spurs publicity department, and are available on a game-to-game basis. An official Spurs photographer pass allows admission to the Arena, the Media Room and to the locker rooms.
The following information is a suggested guide for still photographers shooting courtside in the Arena.
Lighting: Tungston with mercury vapor.
Film Type B/W: Tri-X E, I, 1600: Shutter 500: F Stop 2.8
Film Type Color: High Speed Ectachrome Type B, E. I.; Shutter 500; F Stop 2.0.

CINEMATOGRAPHERS Credentials for cinematographers should be requested through the Spurs publicity department, and are available on a game-to-game basis. With credentials, cinematographers will be allowed courtside.
The following is suggested for shooting in the Arena.
Film: Ectachrome 7242 (meter setting ASA 80, 85-B filter), Tungston 3,200 Kelvin.

THE SPURS ON RADIO

Jay Howard

WOAI/1200 AM

Again this year, WOAI Sports Director Jay Howard will be handling the play by play duties for all Spurs games from preseason through the playoffs. The winner of numerous awards, he was named the 1987 "Top Sports Play By Play" man by the Texas Association of Broadcasters. Howard, who has been with the station for eight years, directs all sports programming. He delivers morning and afternoon drive sportscasts and hosts a nightly sportstalk show. A native of New York and a graduate of Wichita State University, with a degree in Broadcast Journalism, Howard had previously worked in St. Louis and Chicago. For the 15th time out of 18 seasons in San Antonio, the Spurs will have all 90 games including playoffs aired by WOAI, the 50,000 watt, clear channel "Sports Leader For The Great Southwest." WOAI, 1200 on the AM dial, gives the Spurs nationwide coverage with a nighttime signal that covers 38 states and Mexico. In addition to game coverage, WOAI has expanded it's Spurs lineup to include the Larry Brown Show, pre- and post-game Spurs talk, and has added the Terry Cummings Show which will be aired on Saturdays immediately preceding Spurs basketball. WOAI will also feature 23 regular season and up to 29 playoff NBA Games of the Week. Along with the partnership with WOAI, Spurs basketball can also be heard across South Texas on the Spurs Basketball Network. Airing this years games will be KNAL (1410 AM) in Victoria, KEYS (1400 AM) in Corpus Christi, KURV (710 AM) Edinburg and KLKE (1230 AM) in Del Rio.

KSAH RADIO /720 AM

Armando Quintero

Armando Quintero's voice is quickly becoming the Hispanic sports voice for the entire nation. For the third consecutive season, the Spurs will be broadcast by KSAH AM 720. The news here in 1990-1991 is that KSAH plans to broadcast 85 games including the entire regular season and playoffs. Quintero returns to his play-by-play duties for Radio Festival. He keeps his schedule busy with his sports directorship at KWEX-TV and his play-by-play duties as the Hispanic voice for the Dallas Cowboys. Additionally, Quintero has broadcast Texas Rangers baseball and soccer at the international level. A Univision Network correspondent and anchor, this Uvalde, Texas, native organized a Spanish Radio network for the 1990 NBA All-Star game.

KTFM RADIO/103 FM

Hot 103 KTFM is back this season as a Spurs partner with the popular "Spur of the Moment" vignettes. Listen for these informative mini-programs as you drive your car to and from work Monday through Friday.

THE SPURS ON TELEVISION

Dave Barnett

KSAT-12 TELEVISION AND SPORTS

The ABC affiliate returns as the 'over-the-air' station of the San Antonio Spurs. KSAT-12 will be bringing 17 Spurs away to the fans in the Alamo City. This will be the fourth season that KSAT-12 has had a partnership with the Spurs. When the Spurs are on the air, it will be Dave Barnett behind the mike making all the calls at courtside with KSAT Sports Director Greg Simmons providing the color commentary. This will be the third season for Dave and the Spurs. Before coming to San Antonio, Barnett was the voice of the Dallas Mavericks for seven seasons. A native of Denton, Texas, Barnett also had worked for WBAP Radio in Dallas. These broadcasts may all be watched on KSAT-12 (Cable 13).

KSAT-12 AND NEW PROGRAMMING

The Spurs and KSAT-12 will be producing a new show that will air on Saturday mornings. The show is to be titled "TEAMMATES" airing on Saturdays at 10:30 am, starting December 1st. This 30-minute program will be co-hosted by Terry Cummings and Sonny Melendrez of KTFM Radio. Spurs fans can also keep up with the action by tuning into "The Spurs Report with Larry Brown" every Saturday at 11 am. Don't forget to tune into Spurs Monthly Magazine also. SM Magazine can normally be seen on the first Saturday of every month at 6 pm. Watch for both of these broadcasts on KSAT-12 (Cable 13).

HOME SPORTS ENTERTAINMENT

San Antonio's own Paragon Cable will once again feature HSE and the Spurs with a 20-home game and 10-road game schedule. (Fans may watch HSE on Cable 23).

FIRST CHOICE PAY-PER-VIEW

The San Antonio Spurs are offering an exclusive 15-game package that will televise 12 home games and 3 road games. (Fans may watch these games on First Choice, Cable 98. Fans must have a Z-view converter and tune into Cable 98 fifteen minutes prior to broadcast).

KWEX

Sports Director of KWEX and Spanish Voice of the Spurs, Armando Quintero, will be bringing back his Saturday program of "Arriba Spurs". (Fans may watch this 30-minute show on Channel 41 every Saturday at 5 pm).

Greg Simmons

NBC

NBC and its proud peacock will be televising the NBA. They will be opening their inaugural season of the National Basketball Association with the Spurs and the Los Angeles Lakers on November 3rd.

The Spurs are guaranteed one additional national telecast on March 24th, 1991, against the defending champion Detroit Pistons.

There also are three optional NBC dates that the network will decide upon later in the season. These dates are the February 18th game vs. Utah, the April 14th game vs. Phoenix, and the April 21st game vs. Dallas. (Spurs fans should turn on Channel 4/Cable 3).

TNT

The Spurs will be televised five times while on the road in the 1990-1991 campaign, and all five games will be seen here in San Antonio and throughout the country. The games are November 13th, 1990 vs. Golden State, January 1st, 1991 vs. New Jersey, January 29th, 1991 vs. Houston, March 1st, 1991 vs. Boston, and April 5th, 1991 in Chicago as the Spurs fly into the Windy City to take on Air Jordan. (Look for TNT on Cable 25). TNT will be broadcasting these Spurs home games – Spurs vs New York on March 26, 7 pm and Spurs vs LA Lakers on April 2, 7 pm – these games are blacked out locally.

SPURS FOUNDATION 1990-1991

The Spurs Foundation is a 501(c) (3) organization created in 1988 by the San Antonio Spurs to generate goodwill and financial support for a variety of charities in the surrounding area.

Each year the Foundation's board of directors selects charities which will benefit from numerous special events and fundraisers during the season. In 1990-1991, the following charities will be assisted by the Foundation:

BOYS & GIRLS CLUBS: With two neighborhood clubs, the organization provides recreational and educational programs for boys and girls ages 6 to 17.

BOYSVILLE: A residential children's center, Boysville serves boys and girls who range in age from 6 to 18 and cannot live at home for a variety of reasons.

C.A.M.P. (Children's Association for Maximum Potential): The C.A.M.P. program serves children who are severely medically and physically disabled and provides a daycare center and rehabilitation center in addition to an extensive summer camp.

CAMP DISCOVERY: Sponsored by the American Cancer Society, Camp Discovery is a recreational summer camp for children with cancer, many of whom have never been to summer camp owing to their illness.

HEALY-MURPHY CENTER: The center serves children and youth in crisis and provides both recreational and educational opportunities.

JUVENILE DIABETES FOUNDATION: The local chapter of JDF raises funds to help find the cause, treatment, prevention, and cure for this third-largest killer disease.

MISSION ROAD DEVELOPMENTAL CENTER: Mission Road offers extensive residential care and training for children and young adults with mental retardation.

The Foundation's fundraisers in 1990-1991 include a celebrity golf tournament on October 4, and an opening season luncheon on November 2. The Reunion Classic, gala dinner and auction, is scheduled for March 1991 and will showcase Spurs memorabilia and other high quality prizes. In addition, throughout the season, special events and promotions will help raise charitable dollars for the Spurs Foundation.

The Foundation's stated emphasis is on economically, emotionally, and/or physically disadvantaged youth of Bexar County. Programs with a recreation or sports focus are preferred, and no grants are made to individuals, churches, or schools. Each year in April, the board reviews applications to determine the featured charities for the upcoming fiscal year (July to June).

OFF THE BOARDS

PROJECT GOAL 1990-1991

Because professional athletes can be a source of inspiration and motivation to young people of all ages, the Spurs organization and one of its major sponsors, H-E-B, have made a formal commitment to the school districts in Bexar County and the surrounding area. For the third year now through PROJECT GOAL students will be encouraged to set goals and make sound decisions about their lives.

Once again this year, David Robinson is honorary chairman of PROJECT GOAL.

A series of several different programs will target school children of various grade levels. The following programs are currently planned:

"MR. ROBINSON'S NEIGHBORHOOD" — PROJECT GOAL Section at Spurs Games: Students from area elementary, middle, and high schools will be eligible to compete for tickets in Mr. Robinson's Neighborhood — a block of 50 seats at each game. Each teacher in local schools may submit the name of one student who has exhibited marked improvement or special achievement. Entry forms are available through each school's administrative office or through the Spurs office. For each game, 25 different students will be selected and will be awarded a pair of tickets to sit in Mr. Robinson's Neighborhood. Winners also will be eligible to be guests on "Teammates" television specials on KSAT-12. Each student winning a ticket to Mr. Robinson's Neighborhood also receives a free Nike T-shirt. In addition, the names of four lucky students in Mr. Robinson's Neighborhood from October — January will be drawn to win travel to Portland for a shopping spree at Nike and to see the Spurs play the Trail Blazers in February. The names of the four lucky winners will drawn on February 4, 1991.

YOUTH NEWS CONFERENCE: In late January 1991, PROJECT GOAL will host a youth news conference. The conference will serve as a forum for players and coaches to interact with student reporters and photographers from local elementary, middle, and high schools.

H-E-B ADOPT-A-SCHOOL: Each area H-E-B store is establishing a supportive relationship with an appropriate number of schools in their service area. To reinforce Spurs' support of the stores' efforts, the H-E-B Adopt-A-School matches will be given priority consideration for scheduling player or Coyote appearances.

PERSONAL GOAL PROGRAM: Middle school youth will be targeted in this program which emphasizes setting appropriate goals and developing decision-making skills. The Express-News will be a major partner in this project which focuses on six activity pages in Saturday morning papers in February and early March.

OUTSTANDING TEACHERS NIGHT: In early March, during Texas Public Schools Week, each district's nominee for Teacher of the Year will be invited to a Spurs game, treated to a hot dog and Coke, and will be brought onto the court and recognized prior to tip-off.

"TOP GUNN: SCHOLAR/ATHLETE AWARD: This program recognizes high school athletes and scholars for their academic achievements as well as their excellence in sports. Local Gunn automobile dealerships have come together to offer monthly awards to local athletes and scholars. Recommendations for this award must come from the student's coach and be endorsed by the school principal. Winning students will receive a $500 college scholarship. At the season's end, one of these students will win an additional $1,000 college scholarship.

SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM: In cooperation with the National Basketball Association several scholarships will be awarded to graduating high school seniors. The Bexar County Scholarship Clearing House will assist with students' applications.

The Spurs and H-E-B, as presentors of PROJECT GOAL, will do all they can to make PROJECT GOAL a successful program for students. Along with co-sponsors such as the Express-News and Coca-Cola, Nike, and the Gunn Dealerships, we all hope to make a significant difference in the lives of all our school children and adolescents.

RED McCOMBS

Owner

Red McCombs became full owner of the San Antonio Spurs on May 27, 1988, when he purchased the NBA franchise for a market value price of $47 million.

McCombs understood that it was time to roll up his sleeves and get to work if this franchise was going to be competitive.

McCombs' first priority was to organize a winning team in the front office. He did this by making longtime friend Gary Woods president, Russ Bookbinder executive vice president, and retained Bob Bass in the basketball area.

After McCombs had his front office organized, it was time to concentrate on the team that was playing in the HemisFair Arena.

He knew that to contend for an NBA championship the team would need a leader who not only could teach the game, but was a proven winner. In June of 1988, McCombs hired one of the premier collegiate and professional coaches in the land, Larry Brown.

Brown had been successful at every level of coaching and the Spurs now needed to acquire the type of talent that Brown could coach.

To acquire the necessary talent to win, the Spurs assembled the components of a championship caliber team by making solid draft selections, and by making some beneficial trades. The NBA draft has produced three current Spurs starters in David Robinson, Willie Anderson, and Sean Elliott. Two well conceived trades orchestrated by Bass brought Terry Cummings from Milwaukee and Rod Strickland from New York. A team that had won only 21 games in 1988-1989 was now on the threshhold of being a force of the 1990s.

In his goal to bring a champion back home to his city, San Antonio, McCombs has not stood still during this off-season. Contract extentions were given to Cummings and Anderson to ensure the Spurs and their fans that the winning nucleus would stay right here in the Alamo City. The Spurs traded for versatile Paul Pressey from Milwaukee and added bench depth by re-acquiring David Greenwood after he had just spent the past year winning an NBA championship in Detroit.

As McCombs has always stated, "we're making every move toward being an NBA champion. That, hopefully, will be recognized. This is not a static situation." McCombs has proved by action that he is an owner who is willing to do everything that it takes to see that the Spurs have every chance to go all the way.

This will be the third year that he has owned the team, and each year has had a few more surprises than the next. In fact, his whole association with the Spurs has been interesting.

The Spurs first came to San Antonio in the spring of 1973 after having existed in Dallas as the Chaparrals of the American Basketball Association. McCombs was an original investor in the Spurs and served as the team's first president and later as chairman of the board. He continued as a major investor when the team was merged into the National Basketball Association in 1976.

It all seems like a story straight from the movies, success breeding success. But not according to McCombs. Had the group engineering the move from Dallas been wiser, the Spurs might not have been at all.

"We hadn't done the diligence we should have, which was a blessing in disguise," he recently said. "Had we known the league (ABA) was in such shaky status, we wouldn't have done the deal. Once we got in, the next miracle was getting into the NBA. I had serious doubts we'd ever get in."

From the beginning, McCombs was joined as a Spurs investor by his wife of 39 years, Charline. In 1983 when McCombs left the Spurs and purchased the Denver Nuggets of the NBA, Charline went along as a Nuggets investor. Three years later, in 1986, McCombs sold the Nuggets but she remained financially involved with the Nuggets.

Then came 1987 and McCombs' return as a Spurs investor, and, with some hesitancy, Charline too divested herself of the Denver interests and returned to the Spurs. An avid Spurs fan, Charline is the one at home who gets worked up over the games. In fact, McCombs once said "C.H. Mc. is the most avid fan in our family and by a wide margin. She can't eat on gamedays, she can't sleep after the games."

Those two are not alone in basketball. Their three adult daughters all have been investors in the Spurs — Lynda Smith, Connie McNab, and Marsha Shields.

At the time he purchased the team for $47 million, McCombs told a gathering of media persons that "I can't tell you why it was $47 million instead of $45 or $50."

He continued.

"This was a very big step for my family. And I don't have to express to all of you how much money $47 million is, but for a boy from Spur, Texas, who was raised during the depression era, it is a very serious investment."

And serious he is about it all. "Our goal is to make the Spurs the absolute very best. The fans buy our services and our advertisements and we are committed that this franchise will be the very best that there is in the NBA."

McCombs was born in Spur, Texas in 1927. After attending public schools there, he went to Southwestern University and the University of Texas at Austin.

In 1950 he moved to Corpus Christi to enter the automobile field, Ford cars to be specific.

McCombs loves the story of how he began. It seems a friend said to come on down. "You get a good check and a new car to drive" the friend said, "and in the afternoons we can go down the street and shoot some pool." McCombs accepted the job, he liked the pay and the new car, but he did not shoot pool in the afternoons. He sold cars.

And it was here that he became involved in sports. First it was midget auto racing on a quartermile track in Corpus Christi in 1951. Then there were the contracts of a couple of boxers, and then in 1953 there was the Corpus Christi Clippers of the Class B Big State Baseball League.

In 1958 came the next big decision in his life. He brought his family to San Antonio and entered the automobile business as a partner and later sole owner of Red McCombs Ford.

He has had active roles in more than 50 automobile dealerships in the nation with peripheral automobile operations like importation of cars, distribution of parts and accessories, financing and insurance.

His business interests are not limited to the automobile industry. Through McCombs Enterprises, the holding entity for the McCombs family investments, he has entrepreneurial ventures in convenience stores, cable television, pay television, restaurants, real estate development, banking, oil and gas exploration, cattle ranching — in particular Longhorn cattle — and thoroughbred horses.

Additionally, he has been chairman of the site committee of the Texas Research Foundation, twice he has been chairman of the Ford National council, and has been chairman of the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce. Those civic responsibilities are but examples of his extensive list of community involvements.

GARY WOODS

President

For the past decade, Gary Woods has been president of McCombs Enterprises, the holding entity for the McCombs family investments with headquarters in San Antonio. He is now into his third year as president of the Spurs organization.

He became president of the Spurs at the time the McCombs organization purchased the franchise in May of 1988. In October of that same year, Woods moved into an ownership position with 15 per cent of the team.

At that time, he compared the operation of a sports team and other business operations. "There are a number of differences and a number of similarities between running a sports franchise and any other business. The big difference, of course, is that the sports franchise is so publicly attuned with the fans and with the media. Your business decisions regarding players and tickets are in the spotlight."

Over the course of his Spurs presidency, Woods has become keenly aware of the similarities and differences and he has a firm hand in all phases of the team's progress. He has been involved in the formation of both a coaching staff and a roster of players including contracts. He has played a major role in the team's marketing programs and in the formation of the not-for-profit Spurs Foundation, the team's charitable arm.

"The similarities in business and in sports are in that you are offering a product for sale," he said, "and you have to establish a desirable product and create the right environment to encourage its purchase."

His first involvement with major league sports came from 1982 to 1985 when McCombs owned the NBA's Denver Nuggets. "The big difference," he said, "the Spurs are in our home town."

Born in Lockhart, Texas, in 1943, Woods is a Certified Public Accountant and holds a certification in data processing. He is a graduate of Southwest Texas State University and he holds a master's degree from Southern Methodist University. Both degrees are in business administration. He also has completed the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Business School.

From 1965 to 1970, Woods held several accounting and financial management positions in the Dallas corporate offices of Texas Instruments. In 1971 he moved to San Antonio as the chief financial officer for Associated Milk Producers. It was during his four years there that he became acquainted with McCombs and his varied business holdings.

After his time at AMPI, Woods worked as the chief financial officer for Wainoco Oil Corporation in Houston from 1975 through 1978.

Moving back to San Antonio with McCombs Enterprises, Woods began overseeing investments which now include 30 automobile dealerships, oil and gas operations, real estate holdings, broadcast outlets in both radio and television, ranching and many other areas of the business world.

Active in numerous professional organizations and societies in the fields of business, accounting and finance, Woods regularly attends seminars in those disciplines both as a student and as an instructor.

Among his current community and civic activities, Woods is a member of the boards of directors of Junior Achievement of South Texas, Alamo Area Council of Boy Scouts of America, KLRN and several other organizations. He also serves on the board of Titan Holdings, Inc.

Woods and his wife Glenda are the parents of son Mark, a student at Tulane University School of Law, and a daughter Kristin, a student at Pepperdine University.

BOB BASS

VP of Basketball Operations

National Basketball Association Executive of the Year. That award went to the Spurs' Bob Bass following the 1989-1990 season and was presented by THE SPORTING NEWS.

Bass was the leading architect in restructuring a Spurs team which won a franchise low 21 games into a unit which won a franchise record 56 games in 1989-1990.

His title changed to Vice President this past September and the simple fact remains that he continues to do what he knows best and loves most of all, directing the Spurs fortunes on the basketball floor.

For most of his basketball life Bass has had some type of responsibility for the team on the court, and many of those years there were other duties involved, most often under the title of athletic director or general manager.

But now, when it comes to Spurs administrative duties, Bob Bass can see clearly. His focus is on one thing, basketball and the on-court lineup.

Bass became assistant to the chairman in June of 1988 when Red McCombs purchased the franchise. Prior to that, since February of 1988, Bass was vice president for basketball operations. That was the point when he moved into basketball only. His title changed in 1988 but the majority of his job description did not.

Bass' association with the Spurs began in December of 1974 when he was named head coach some 27 games in the season. After an immediate road trip where his team lost 7 of 9 games, Bass' team righted itself, won a franchise record 51 games, and got into the American Basketball Association playoffs.

Bass was on the Spurs' bench one more full season and he has been an interim Spurs coach on two other occasions and his mark in San Antonio is 119-90. His 119 victories is third on the franchise coaches' list, his winning percentage of .569 is second all-time.

Since the spring of 1976, Bass with the Spurs has held several titles. He was assistant to the president, assistant coach, and finally general manager from the summer of 1979 until February of 1988.

Born in Big Spring, Texas, Bass was raised and attended public schools in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

He earned two degrees, a bachelor's from Oklahoma Baptist University during which time he played both basketball and baseball, and a master's from the University of Oklahoma. After two years of coaching in the Oklahoma high school ranks, he returned to OBU as basketball coach and began a highly successful stint.

Beginning in 1952, in the next 15 years six of his teams went to Kansas City for the championship tournament of the NAIA. In 1966 his OBU team won the title and Bass was named coach of the year. Overall at OBU, his teams won 275 games, and were NAIA runners-up in 1965 and 1967.

And during that time, he served as athletic director in addition to his coaching duties.

In 1967, the ABA formed, the call came, and Bass headed for Denver as coach of the Rockets. In two years with the Rockets, his teams posted a cumulative mark of 89-67 and had two playoff trips.

He then moved to Texas Tech University for one season and a part of another when the professional call sounded again and he moved to Miami to coach the Floridians of the ABA. Two years there and then it was on to Memphis as coach and general manager.

His administrative talents came forward in 1973 and Bass went to the ABA office in New York as supervisor of referees. After a year in that capacity, he moved back to Memphis as general manager before becoming the Spurs coach in December 1974.

Bass and his wife Pat are the parents of son Kelly who lives in the Loveland, Colo., area, and son Kip who lives in Chicago. The Bass' family includes six grandchildren.

RUSS BOOKBINDER

Executive Vice President

Executive Vice President Russ Bookbinder serves as the Club's chief operating officer, overseeing the business end of the franchise, including accounting, broadcasting, marketing, public and community relations, promotions, ticket sales and game night operations. Bookbinder directs a 40-person staff whose number one task is to generate revenues that keep pace with the ever-increasing costs of running an NBA franchise in the league's smallest market.

As the excitement builds for the upcoming 1990-1991 season because of the team's divisional title play, Bookbinder and the Spurs staff have built this year's marketing theme as "Catch the Spurs Spirit". Entering his third campaign with the Spurs, it has been the goal of Bookbinder to communicate to potential fans that going to a game in the HemisFair Arena "is not just going to see a basketball game . . . it's about having a good time".

The Spurs in the community has received heavy emphasis. In Bookbinder's tenure with the team, the community and charitable activities have been made a priority through the creation of the Spurs Foundation, a not-for-profit, fund-raising organization. Also the Spurs established PROJECT GOAL which reaches 15 school districts and promotes the goal for the children of San Antonio "to stay in school". Academic excellence is rewarded by tickets to Spurs games.

In the broadcast area, the Spurs refuse to stand still. The 1990-1991 season will bring a new Saturday morning program on KSAT-12 TV featuring Terry Cummings and KTFM's Sonny Melendrez and the Spurs also will introduce their first fan club for kids, TEAMMATES, which will officially open in December. The Spurs television package is one of the most extensive in the NBA with KSAT-12, HSE and Pay-Per-View all covering the action. The Spurs also will be blanketed across South Texas as WOAI and Spanish radio KSAH cover the Spurs. The Spurs also will be offering two other new programs to the fans in the Terry Cummings Show and The NBA Game of the Week both of which will be aired on WOAI.

Gamenights at the Arena have become a total entertainment package. Everything is planned and choreographed from the halftimes, to the music, to the vignettes seen on JumboTRON, and even the wild Coyote skits. The Spurs have tried to develop an environment for the family to spend an enjoyable evening together.

A native of Florida, Bookbinder has 10 years of experience in the NBA. He was the original Director of Marketing/Broadcasting Sales for the Dallas Mavericks.

Before coming to the Spurs in February of 1988, he was the director of corporate development for Raycom Sports in Dallas. Raycom has developed regional television networks for most of the major collegiate conferences across the nation including the Southwest Conference.

A holder of a degree in advertising from the University of Florida, Bookbinder began his professional career working in newspaper advertising and promotions before joining Professional Sports Publications as western regional manager.

Bookbinder was with the Dallas Mavericks when they first originated and was part of the revitalization of the Denver Nuggets franchise when current owner Red McComb's purchased the Colorado team.

Since moving to San Antonio, he became involved in the community through his participation in numerous organizations. He is a member of the Rotary Club of San Antonio, and is on the finance committee of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Additionally, he is a member of the executive committee of the San Antonio Sports Foundation and a board member of the Multiple Sclerosis Foundation.

Russ and his wife Tammy, the daughter of Baylor University football Coach Grant Teaff, are the parents of four-year-old son Josh, and one-year-old daughter Jessica.

LARRY BROWN

Head Coach

In 18 years of coaching basketball, the philosophy that has brought success to the teams Larry Brown has coached is an offense that will run the ball up the floor to take advantage of transition baskets, and a defense that aggressively applies the pressure.

The 1989-1990 Spurs season showed that with the right talent the foundation of principals upon which Coach Brown preaches would work.

And work it did.

The San Antonio Spurs took its city and the NBA by storm in 1989-1990 by winning 56 games (establishing a new NBA franchise turnaround record), winning 20 consecutive home games, winning the 1990 Midwest Division crown, and taking the Portland Trail Blazers to game seven in one of the Western Conference semi-finals.

Coach Brown and SPORTING NEWS Executive of the year, Bob Bass, put together a team that could handle the demands of the type of game Brown likes to coach. Terry Cummings and Willie Anderson became mainstays while rookie Sean Elliott grew into his role as the season progressed. The trade which brought Rod Strickland to the Alamo City from the Knicks gave the team someone fast enough to keep up the pace and pass the ball into the 'big guys'.

And did the Spurs ever find themselves a 'big guy'. Rookie center David Robinson stepped onto the floor and fans immediately knew they were watching the premier player of the 90's.

This style of play has been good to Larry Brown coached teams. It has been so good that Brown recorded his 500th win as a professional coach when the Spurs beat Chicago on February 3, 1990. In his 18 seasons as head coach, he has been associated with 17 teams which posted winning marks and 16 out of the 18 teams have all made it into the playoffs.

This has not been an off-season where Coach Brown or his staff have stood still. A team always in the quest for the perfect combination, the Spurs made two summer deals to strengthen the roster. On August 1, 1990 the Spurs traded power forward Frank Brickowski to the Milwaukee Bucks for agile and multi-dimensional Paul Pressey. On paper the trade was one for one. However, Pressey has the ability to play three positions thus adding the versatility the Spurs were looking for. With the retirement of 17-year veteran Caldwell Jones, the Spurs were looking for defensive and rebounding help. What the team got on August 20, 1990 was the reuniting of the Spurs and David Greenwood. After spending two years away from home, Greenwood is ready to share his Piston championship magic right here.

"Believe it or not, I think we start preparing for the playoffs the very first game of the season, from the first practice. Everyone asks me about winning the divisional title and getting the homecourt advantage, but I have always thought you prepare yourself to improve your game and that's on the first day.

"The mental aspect is important. I think the most important thing I can do as a coach is get the team into a positive frame of mind and not to have them afraid to fail. I want them to be confident we can win."

Brown has never strayed far from his statement when he signed with the Spurs in June of 1988. "We want to give the fans in San Antonio the type of team they deserve. We want them to know we are playing hard every night and we are playing in an unselfish manner."

That type team is his legacy in basketball. Most recently it was exhibited when his 1988 University of Kansas squad won the NCAA championship. That title made him only the seventh coach in NCAA history to direct two different schools to the Final Four. At Kansas his 1986 team also was a Final Four participant, and his 1981 UCLA team was semi-finalist.

In his 18 seasons as a head coach, Brown has compiled a mark of 702 wins, 417 losses for a percentage of .627. He has had only last year's team to finish under the .500 mark. He has had seven collegiate teams — two at UCLA and five at Kansas — to win 20 or more games.

His winning percentage at Kansas of .754 is a school record. His .744 overall in the collegiate ranks is sixth all-time. He captured the Naismith and Wooden coach of the year awards after Kansas won the 1988 title.

As a professional coach, his 11-year cumulative mark is 525-318 for .623. That time includes two years with Carolina Cougars and one divisional title in the old American Basketball Association. He then had two seasons with Denver of the ABA and two more divisional titles and one trip to the ABA finals.

Denver and Brown moved into the NBA and in the next two seasons the Nuggets won two divisional titles. His other two seasons in the NBA were in New Jersey and the Nets had two playoff appearances.

The 50-year-old Brown is a native of Brooklyn and traces his interest in basketball to his days on the playgrounds. Playing from dawn to dusk outside the bakery where his mother worked, Brown once admitted that he joined the Boy Scouts because they were the ones with the place to play basketball.

After his days at Long Beach High School, he matriculated at the University of North Carolina to play for legendary Frank McGuire and for current Tarheels Coach Dean Smith. There, he was honorable mention All-America as a senior point guard. In 1963 he received a degree in American History after being All-Atlantic Coast Conference.

Upon graduation, he played two seasons with the Akron Goodyear AAU team as preparation for the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo. That began his association with the US Olympic program. Since being on that gold-medal winning team, he helped coach the 1968 and 1974 US teams, and was an assistant coach for the 1980 team.

After that Olympic experience in 1964, he returned to the University of North Carolina as freshman coach. The professional call came in 1967 when the ABA formed, and he headed for New Orleans and the Buccaneers. Wearing jersey number 11 because it was "the smallest sized jersey they had," he played five seasons there, with the Oakland Oaks (ABA champs in 1969) and in Denver he set a league mark of 23 assists in a game and three times led the league in assists.

When his playing days ended, he moved in 1972 to the Carolina franchise to begin his highly successful coaching career.

His first Carolina team had a 52-27 mark for the best record in professional basketball that season, and he was the ABA coach of the year. Through his ABA coaching career, twice he was coach of the year, and three times he directed a league all-star team, including the ABA mid-year classic in San Antonio in 1975.

When the Nuggets of Denver were merged into the NBA in 1976, he continued his winning ways and was the Western Conference coach for the Milwaukee all-star game.

In the history of the ABA and the NBA, 10 times a team has improved its record by 20 or more games with a new coach. Larry Brown coached three of those 10 teams.

GREGG POPOVICH
Assistant Coach

Gregg Popovich will be entering his third year with the Spurs as a bench coach. He signed on with the San Antonio franchise in the summer of 1988 after spending eight seasons as the head coach for Pomona-Pitzer Colleges in California. Besides his coaching duties, Gregg also was an associate professor of physical education.

The 42-year-old Popovich is a native of Merrillville, Ind., and is a 1970 graduate of the Air Force Academy. He majored in Soviet studies and was the basketball team's captain and leading scorer. After graduation, he played with the 1972 AAU champion Armed Forces team and that same year had an invitation to the Olympic trials.

After his active tour with the Air Force was completed, he was an assistant coach at the Academy for six years before moving to California and Pomona-Pitzer. Coach Popovich found the time to complete his masters degree in physical education and sports sciences from Denver University in 1980. As head coach for Pomona-Pitzer, he was responsible for elevating the basketball program to its first conference title in 68 years (1986) resulting in a berth in the NCAA III tournament.

Referred to as "Pop" by friends and family, he and his wife Erin are the parents of daughter Jill and son Mickey.

R. C. BUFORD
Assistant Coach

R. C. Buford has completed his second year in the professional ranks, having come to the Spurs along with Larry Brown in June of 1988.

The previous five years he was at the University of Kansas as a coach, two years as a graduate assistant, and junior varsity mentor and remaining years as a varsity bench assistant when the Jayhawks won the NCAA title in 1988 after reaching the Final Four in 1986.

His collegiate playing career began at Texas A&M University and he played for the 1980 Southwest Conference Champions. After two years there, he moved to Oklahoma State University. He earned a management degree at Friends University in his hometown of Wichita, Kan.

Now 30-years-old, Buford was a four-sport letterman in high school while playing at Collegiate High School in Wichita.

R.C. has been part of the Spurs summer coaching staff that has taken Spurs rookies to the Los Angeles Summer Pro League. He is a fan of all kinds of music, warm weather and golf. His wife, Beth, is a professional golfer on the LPGA tour. They are parents of a son, Chase, who is now two-years-old.

ED MANNING
Scout/Assistant Coach

Ed Manning, too, was at the University of Kansas for five years before coming to the Spurs in the summer of 1988.

But the last three years with the Spurs have not been his first association with professional basketball. He played nine years at the pro level before getting into collegiate coaching.

After playing at Jackson State University and earning his bachelor's degree, he was drafted and played three years with the NBA Baltimore Bullets. Then came one year with Portland which came after Baltimore had traded him to Chicago but the Bulls lost Manning when he was taken by Portland in the expansion draft of 1970.

After a year there, he headed for the ABA and the Carolina Cougars of Coach Larry Brown. He was on that 57-27 team for the best mark that season in pro ball. A year with the New York Nets was followed by a season in Indiana and a season in Belgium to wrap up his playing career.

In 1977 he moved to North Carolina A&T to begin his coaching career. While there he underwent triple by-pass heart surgery in December of 1982.

The 46-year-old Manning is a native of Summit, Miss. and answers to the nickname "Razor." He and his wife Darnelle are the parents of two children, daughter Dawn who is a senior at the University of Kansas, and son Danny who plays for the Los Angeles Clippers.

JOHN ANDERSEN
Trainer/Director of Travel

John Andersen came to the Spurs in the summer of 1981 as only the second trainer the franchise has had in San Antonio. He is now set for his 10th year in professional basketball.

Before moving to San Antonio, he was the trainer for the Seattle Soccers of the North American Soccer League. He spent five years with that team.

Andersen holds a bachelor's degree from Washington State University and a master's degree from Stanford University.

His work experience has included the athletic departments of both those universities. And, he worked at the Seattle Orthopedic Physicians Clinic before becoming associated with professional sports and with soccer.

A native of Spokane, Wash., Andersen is past chairman of the National Basketball Trainers Association and continues to be on its Executive Committee.

In addition to his training and physical care duties for the Spurs players, he holds responsibilities of scheduling all travel when the team is on the road which includes transportation and housing.

At 42-years-old, Andersen is an accomplished judge of South Texas chili cookoffs. Among his likes and loves are Texas jalapeño peppers, cowboy boots, classical music, the Chicago Cubs, and golf — he had a hole-in-one in July of 1986. But his golf talent does not just end there. Playing with John is a true experience since he has started his own private collection of logoed golf balls. Anything and everything from NBA teams, to personalized names, or to his favorite, corporate logo's, count. With his trusty "ball scoop" in his bag, John is guaranteed finishing 18 holes with more balls than when he started.

Andersen's wife is Belinda, a native San Antonian.

LAWRENCE PAYNE
Vice President of Broadcasting

The Vice President of Broadcasting, Lawrence Payne, has plenty to do to keep his daily calendar filled. Lawrence is responsible for all radio and television matters of the Spurs. These duties include the responsibility of all sponsorship sales, executive producer of all Spurs television, overseeing the JumboTRON operation, and is also involved with the Spurs video projects.

Payne joined the Spurs team in July, 1976, to work in program advertising and he has had many duties since then. They have included putting together the game program (76-78), editor of the Spurs weekly newspaper (77-78), and producing the Spurs television broadcasts from 1979-1982.

As the needs of television have grown, so has Payne's involvement in this area with the club. He operated the Spurs Sports Channel (1982-89) and negotiated Cable Sports Pay-Per-View events for Rogers Cable.

Payne's involvement with television and the Spurs also has won him such honors as two ACE Awards, the Silver Medal at the TV and Film Festival of New York, and numerous Addy Awards.

Payne is a recipient of BA and law degrees from the University of Texas at Austin.

He has been married to his wife, Mary for the past 11 years and he is the father of two boys: Bryan (6) and Will (2). The Payne's enjoy all aspects of sports, especially snow skiing.

BRUCE GUTHRIE
Director of Marketing

Bruce Guthrie began his career with the Spurs back in July of 1982 as an account executive and he has been handling the duties of director of marketing for the past four seasons. As director of marketing, he has the opportunity to get involved with many projects. He is responsible for developing and implementing the marketing and advertising plan for season, group and individual ticket buyers, coordination of special events, and supervise all elements of game operations. It is also Guthrie's job to create and implement promotions within the Arena and the general market.

Guthrie is an Illinois native and graduated from Western Illinois University with a master's degree in Sports Management.

He is married, and he and his wife Carla, are the parents of two-year-old son Zachary.

In his free time, Guthrie enjoys all sports especially golf. He is also a member of the American Marketing Association.

JOE CLARK
Director of Sales

Joe Clark is responsible for the direction and supervision of all ticket sales efforts for the Spurs which includes season tickets, group sales and special event nights. He also assists in the marketing efforts of the Spurs throughout the local community as well as the outer markets. Clark also oversees the general marketing activities of The Spurs Shop and Arena souvenir sales. Game operation duties include supervision of downtown traffic flow, security, promotional giveaway nights, promotional contests and souvenir sales.

It has been six years since he has graduated from the University of Wisconsin and began his first job at the Spurs as a sales intern. Clark received an undergraduate degree in economics at Wisconsin and a masters degree in sports management from Western Illinois in 1985.

When it comes time to relax, he will be playing golf, tennis, or a pick-up-game of basketball. His other interests include refinishing antiques and reading. Clark is a member of the Knights of Columbus and is on the board of directors with SME of San Antonio.

Clark is married to wife, Linda, who is employed with Bank One.

JULIE DALEIDEN
Controller

As controller for the San Antonio Spurs, Julie Daleiden has the responsibilities of handling all the financial aspects of the company which include cash disbursements, management financial statements, and payroll.

Daleiden graduated from the University of Illinois in 1984 with a degree in accounting. She also is a certified public accountant.

Daleidon has been a member of the Spurs team for the past 19 months. In her free time, she is a sports enthusiast who likes to play golf, tennis, and loves to watch basketball.

Daleiden is single, but has plenty of nieces and nephews.

WAYNE WITT
Director of Public Relations

Wayne Witt is entering his 17th season with the Spurs as the team's director of public relations. His duties are heavily related to media services including the dispersal of Spurs information and facts and the hosting of local and visiting media for games and other events.

His educational background includes a bachelor's degree in journalism from Trinity University and graduate study in journalism at Northwestern University and in sociology at Trinity University.

He likes country music, Pizza Hut Supreme Pizza, blue berry muffins, the San Diego Padres, playing tennis, Humphrey Bogart movies, and reading Leon Uris books. He doesn't get too excited about Oriental foods, heavy metal music, and long automobile drives.

Witt's family is wife Barbara and children Julie and Amy.

MARY HAVEL
Director of Community Relations

Mary Havel oversees one of the newest and fastest growing departments within the Spurs organization.

She is responsible for being the principal liason with the community, especially non-profit organizations and schools.

Her work day emphasizes the coordination of the Spurs Foundation and its fundraising activities.

She also maintains public appearance calendars for The Spurs Coyote, the players and the coaches.

Havel's career with the Spurs began in April, 1988, and she enjoys her job because she likes to see the positive effects that the players can have on children.

She earned a bachelor's and master's degree in English Literature from Our Lady of the Lake University, and worked on a doctoral degree at the University of Texas at Austin.

Havel is married, and she and her husband Steve are the owners of two labrador retrievers and one Himalayan cat.

JEANNE ADAMS
Ticket Office Manager

As the Spurs ticket office manager, Jeanne Adams oversees the following aspects of running her department: renewals, new sales, group sales, payment on accounts, individual game ticket sales, and ticket sales that involve special events. It is also her responsibility to make sure that season ticket holders receive their playoff tickets.

Adams began her career with the Spurs on a part-time basis in 1983 when she worked as an usher. She continually helped the Spurs by typing play-by-play stats at games, selling season tickets, or helping in the front office. In 1987 she became assistant ticket manager, and in June 1989 took over the role of ticket office manager.

Adams and her husband, Richard, have been Spurs season ticket holders since the 'ol ABA days. She has two sons Jeff, 23, (who is married and has a five-year-old son), and Buddy, 17, who is a high school senior at MacArthur High.

Adams herself went to MacArthur and is planning her 25th year reunion. You will find her watching football or baseball games at MacArthur in spare time and she also likes to read. Biographical and historical novels are of interest and Adams knocks these books out in two days.

KENTON NELSON
Retail Merchandising Manager

Kenton Nelson is a new team member of the Spurs staff and as retail merchandising manager it is his job to oversee the following: expansion, staffing, arena sales, training, budgets, purchasing merchandise, game night operations, and special events.

Away from the office, Nelson's personal life has just added a special interest. He was just married on July 21, 1990. His wife Monica is attending school preparing for her degree in education.

Nelson attended Northwestern Oklahoma State University on a baseball scholarship and majored in psychology and physical education.

He likes to spend his free time golfing, hunting, and adding to his baseball card collection.

SPURS TICKETS/GROUP SALES

TICKET OUTLETS

The main Spurs ticket office is located in the arcade of the HemisFair Arena, near the Lila Cockrell Theater . . . this is the area used to sell tickets on gamenights.

Spurs fans coming to the Arena to purchase game tickets between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. should use the HemisFair Garage and ticket office personnel will validate your parking ticket for up to one hour of free parking when the time is related to Spurs business.

The ticket office mailing address is 600 E. Market, Suite 102, San Antonio, Texas 78205. The telephone number is (512) 554-7787.

Spurs game tickets continue to be computerized which means tickets to any game on the 44-contest schedule can be purchased at any time.

Again this year, Spurs game tickets are being sold at all Rainbow Ticketmaster outlets in San Antonio and the surrounding area to include H-E-B Video Centrals, Soundware House and the following military installations — Kelly A.F.B Rec. Center, Ft. Sam Houston Outdoor Rec. Center, Randolph A.F.B. Tickets and Tours Office, and the Lackland A.F.B. ITT.

Additionally, Spurs game tickets are on sale in surrounding cities: Audio-Video Designs in Corpus Christi; the Naval Air Stations in Kingsville and Beeville; Seguin's Sports West; the University of Texas at Austin, and at KDLK-FM Radio in Del Rio; as well as in Dallas/Ft. Worth, Houston & El Paso.

HOW TO PURCHASE TICKETS

The Spurs ticket office is open 9 a.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. – game time on days of weekend games. The Spurs main ticket office utilizes walkup windows in the Arena arcade.

Spurs game tickets can be ordered by mail and it is suggested that mail orders be in hand at least 14 days in advance of a particular contest. That allows for accurate handling.

Tickets can be purchased with cash, money order or charged with Mastercards, VISA cards or with American Express cards.

The Spurs ticket office telephone number (512) 554-7787.

TICKET PRICES

The HemisFair Arena has two levels. The lower level has tickets priced at $18. The upper level of the Arena has tickets priced at $15, $11 and $8. All seats in all price ranges are subject to availability at a particular game.

GROUP BONUS NIGHTS

The Spurs are offering Group Bonus Nights again this season. With a limited number of exceptions, all games on the Spurs home schedule will be available for group rates; group seats can be purchased in the $18, $15, $11 and $8 sections.

The discount depends on the size of the group — the number of tickets purchased. Rate breaks come with a minimum of 25.

Group sales information is easily available by telephoning the Spurs Administrative office at (512) 554-7787. A Spurs sales representative will provide available games and locations, and will distribute group sales brochures. Again, these seats are subject to availability on the game nights desired.

THE 1990 MIDWEST DIVISION CHAMPIONS

At $29.99 a day, it's the only Avenue to take.

Just because you're traveling on business doesn't mean you should have to settle for a business-class rental car. That's why Advantage is now offering the first-class luxury of the New Yorker Fifth Avenue. At only $29.99 a day, it's an expensive look and ride that's sure to fit any expense account. The New Yorker Fifth Avenue boasts power windows, locks and seats; a plush, roomy interior; driver-side airbag; stereo sound system automatic climate control; and a highly responsive V-6 engine. And to all that luxury, we've added unlimited mileage when you drive within the state, which is a standard Advantage feature. All in all, it's one business deal that's sure to impress the boss. Of course, tax, fuel, LDW ($11.95 per day or less), airport imposed fees, and options are extra. Rate is for one driver, 25 years or older, driving within the state of rental and returning to renting location. And this offer is subject to availability and a similar vehicle may be substituted. Offer expires May 31, 1991. In your business, no one ever promised you a free ride, and certainly not one down easy street. But at only $29.99 a day, our New Yorker Fifth Avenue comes mighty close.

1989-1990 REVIEW

NOVEMBER OF 1989 — The Spurs were 8-5 in this month for their first winning month since they were 8-4 in December of 1987. Included in that 8-5 mark were three road wins which equalled their entire road victory total from the previous season. And the first road win November 15 at Minnesota broke a club record 22 straight losses on the road. The Spurs had nine of 12 new players on the roster and allowed less than 100 points to five of the 13 opponents and held the 13 teams to 44 per cent shooting. During the month, the Spurs signed free agent Johnny Moore. He had played eight years with the Spurs and came back as the team's all-time leader in assists. He had not played the previous two years and was limited in two years before that after contracting Desert Fever in December of 1985. David Robinson was rookie of the month.

DECEMBER OF 1989 — The Spurs were 11-2 (19-7 overall) in December which was the team's best month in history percentagewise at .846. That total included a string of four wins to open the month and seven straight — one short of the club record — to end the month. The Spurs were in sole possession of first place in the Midwest Division following a December 23 win over Utah. The 19-7 at the end of December was the team's best ever to begin a new year. And, the Spurs had their first consecutive winning months since 1985. The 19-7 compared to the direct opposite 7-19 a year ago, and the Spurs in 1988-1989 did not win game 19 until March 28. The 11 wins in December was the seventh time in Spurs history for the team to win that many in a single month. David Robinson was rookie of the month. Terry Cummings was player of the week ending December 24.

JANUARY OF 1990 — During January, the Spurs were 10-6 (29-13 overall) and had their third consecutive winning month since they had seven straight in 1982-1983. Along the way, the Spurs surpassed their total 21 wins in 1988-1989, and they reached double figures in road wins for the first time in four years. And, they extended their club record home winning string to 18 by month's end. At mid-month, the Spurs beat Boston in Boston and ended San Antonio's longest losing string to a single team, 20 games to the Celtics. At the halfway point of the season, 41 games, the Spurs were a club record 28-13. At the end of January, the Spurs were 19-1 at home and were the only team in the NBA with just one home loss. For 16 games in the month, David Robinson averaged a double-double and was named rookie of the month again. On the final day of the month against Charlotte, Terry Cummings had his career 52 points.

FEBRUARY OF 1990 — This was the Spurs fourth consecutive winning month with an 8-5 mark (37-18 overall) and they were 16 games better than 1988-1989. At the all-star break, the Spurs were 31-14 and the percentage of .689 was a club record for that point of the season. And their mark of 37-18 for 55 games or two-thirds of the season was another club mark. Ending February, the Spurs were 14-14 on the road and that was the NBA's third best mark to date. David Robinson had career highs of 38 points, 21 rebounds, 12 blocks along the way. And once again on the final day of the month, Terry Cummings had a career high, this time of 24 rebounds at Golden State including a club record 16 offensive. On the roster, the Spurs on the 21st acquired guard Rod Strickland from New York in exchange for Maurice Cheeks, traded Vernon Maxwell to Houston for undisclosed cash and on February 22, the trade deadline, they acquired center Uwe Blab from Golden State for Christian Welp. David Robinson was NBA player of the week ending February 26 and again was rookie of the month.

1989-1990 REVIEW

MARCH OF 1990 — The month's record was 11-5 (48-23 overall) and the Spurs were 27 games better than all of last year leaving them just five wins short of tying the all-time NBA turnaround of 32 games by Boston in 1979-1980. In a week ending the 25th, the Spurs were 4-0 and beat three of the top six teams in the league — at Phoenix, Portland and Detroit. This put the Spurs one-half game up on Phoenix for the fourth playoff spot and homecourt advantage. And they were within two games of Midwest Division-leading Utah. March became the fifth consecutive month with a winning record, and on March 27 against Seattle San Antonian George Scofield became the 488,208th fan to see a Spurs home game and that was a record — by the end of the month the attendance topped 500,000. David Robinson was rookie of the month again, and was player of the week ending March 25.

APRIL OF 1990 — The Spurs were 8-3 in the final month of the season to up their year's mark to a club record-setting 56-26. After six straight months with winning marks, the Spurs tied their club road mark with 22 wins away from the HemisFair Arena. And, over the season 603,660 fans watched home games to establish a franchise attendance mark with an average 14,723 over the 41 games. The Spurs won the final seven games of the season to tie their longest string of the year and overtake Utah to win the Midwest Division title outright. That was the Spurs' sixth division title in 14 NBA seasons. David Robinson was NBA player of the week for the final seven days and was named the league's rookie of the year, almost uncontested. The 56-26 mark for the year established an NBA mark for the biggest one-year turnaround — from 21 wins in 1988-1989 to 56 in 1989-1990. At year's end the Spurs were one of only six NBA teams to defeat every team in the league at least once.

MAY OF 1990 — On the first day of the month the Spurs beat Denver 131-120 in Denver to wrap up a 3-0 sweep of the Nuggets and give the Spurs their first-ever 'short' series win, their first sweep, and their first playoff series win since beating the Nuggets 4-1 in 1983. From there the Spurs played Portland in one of the Western Conference semi-finals and extended the eventual NBA finalist Trail Blazers to seven games before losing in overtime in the seventh game in Portland. Game five in Portland went double overtime before Portland won on its home court. Influenced by the playoffs, Terry Cummings released his original song "We Lay It on the Line" which was played on both audio tapes and on video. And the awards poured in for David Robinson — unanimous choice All-Rookie team and Rookie of the Year, 3rd team All-NBA, 6th in the MVP voting, 2nd team All-Defense, the Schick Award for the year, Toyota Favorite Spur NBPRDA all-interview 3rd team. And early in June, the Spurs' Bob Bass was named NBA executive of the year by THE SPORTING NEWS.

1973-1974 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: Most observers said the Spurs would have little success upon their move from Dallas, especially when attendance fell as low as 1,700 for an October game. By mid-November, the club had started its rise. Swen Nater came from Virginia for a reported $300,000 and on November 11, with Nater in the lineup, the Spurs beat Kentucky before a sellout 10,146. Thereafter, attendance pushed to 9,000 and the investors brought in George Gervin from Virginia. Angelo Drossos negotiated the outright purchase of the club from the Dallas Group.

HONORS: Swen Nater, ABA 2nd Team

1974-1975 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: Two events, only one scheduled, marked the second year. Tom Nissalke was fired on December 13. New Coach Bob Bass and the team recovered nicely to win a club record 51 games. James Silas and George Gervin became authentic superstars. The second major event was the Spurs hosting the ABA all-star game in January, San Antonio's first national sports exposure. The Spurs were upset in the playoffs by Indiana, but more than 330,000 fans paid to see the team play. John Begzos became general manager, and Angelo Drossos was elected ABA vice president.

HONORS: George Gervin, All-ABA 2nd Team
Swen Nater, All-ABA 2nd Team

1975-1976 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: A stunning series of player deals in the off-season first brought Larry Kenon from the Nets for Swen Nater. Mike Gale came in a related purchase. Then Billy Paultz came in exchange for Rich Jones, Chuck Terry, Bobby Warren and Kim Hughes. Only James Silas, George Gervin, Coby Dietrick and George Karl remained from the previous year. The Spurs won another 50 games, and Silas was All-ABA. Attendance topped the 8,000 average mark. In the playoffs, Silas suffered a broken ankle in the first game, and Gervin played with a broken right wrist, and the eventual champion Nets beat the Spurs in seven. In June the long-awaited merger came and the Spurs were NBA after three short years in San Antonio. Bob Bass became assistant to President Angelo Drossos, and Doug Moe came from Denver to coach the Spurs.

HONORS: James Silas, All-ABA

In their 17 NBA seasons, the Spurs have been in six first round 'mini' playoff series. Four have been best of five sets; in 1985 the Spurs lost to Denver 3-2, in 1986 they lost to the Lakers 3-0, in 1988 they lost to the Lakers again 3-0, and in 1990 they beat Denver 3-0. Twice the playoff series have been a best of three affair; in 1977 the Spurs lost to Boston 2-0, and in 1980 they lost to Houston 2-1.

1976-1977 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: Ticket sales hit a club record $1 million, and the Spurs won their NBA opener over Philadelphia. James Silas was lost to knee surgery. A record 12,594 fans saw the Spurs play their first NBA home game against Boston. Twelve San Antonio banks had loaned the team $5 million for operating capital, and the team established a 60,000-mile TV network. George Gervin was named the first Spur in the NBA all-star game, and Spurs crowds became known nationally as CBS aired six games from the Arena. San Antonio beat Washington on March 28 and clinched an NBA playoff berth. On the year, the Spurs won 44 games, finished third in the Central Division, but lost the homecourt advantage and eventually a two-game series to Boston. The Spurs led the NBA in scoring at 115 a game, Gervin was second team All-NBA, and the club set attendance figures at 376,134 and an average 9,174.

HONORS: George Gervin, NBA All-Star Game

1977-1978 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: Momentum was there with Spurs coming off a playoff berth and ticket sales hit more then $1 million. The Arena roof went up 33 feet for 6,000 more seats and the club participated in its first NBA draft. One hundred aspirants attended a summer walk-on camp and in the fall Spurs defeated Boston opening night for a first-ever win over the Celtics. Late December saw the Spurs surge by winning 18 of 22 games and gain the Central Division lead . . . the Central title would be won with a 52-30 mark. George Gervin and Larry Kenon both were named all-star starters in Atlanta on February 5 and two days later Nets would be snowbound and a first-ever game in South Texas postponed because of snow. In the playoffs the Spurs lost 2-4 to eventual champion Washington. On the last night of the season Gervin got 63 against New Orleans to win the NBA scoring title at 27.22 a game and be named all-pro. He won the Seagram's crown and was the CBS/Chevrolet MVP. George Karl was named assistant coach, Doug Moe was third in coach-of-the-year voting and Angelo Drossos was named NBA executive-of-the-year.

1978-1979 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: All attendance figures were broken with 488,207 and an average 11,907 . . . the team won 48 games against 34 losses to capture its second consecutive Central Division title. Then the Spurs whipped Philadelphia 4-3 for its first-ever seven-game series win after which San Antonio took Washington to seven games in the Eastern Conference finals bowing 105-107. George Gervin won his second NBA scoring title at 29.6 and the team averaged 119.3 to lead the NBA. Gervin was named to every all-pro team and won his second Seagram's title. James Silas returned to average 16 on the year as 15,764 came to see the Spurs and Rockets topped only in the playoffs when 16,709 saw Philadelphia as the largest single game crowd in Texas history . . . five of seven playoff games were sellouts. Terry Stembridge retired and Sam Smith became the 'voice.'

1979-1980 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: This was a year-long struggle for the Spurs. The final record was 41-41, the lowest since moving to the Alamo City but the team still made the playoffs for the fourth straight NBA year and the seventh straight in San Antonio. The team finished in a dead-heat with Houston for second in the Central Division and then lost 1-2 to the Rockets in the mini-series. For the 80-81 year Houston and the Spurs along with the new Dallas team moved to the Western Conference's Midwest Division with Kansas City, Denver and Utah. Doug Moe was relieved of his duties on March 1 and Bob Bass finished out the year as interim coach. Stan Albeck was hired in June. George Gervin won his third straight scoring title at 33.1 and was named all-pro. He also was high scorer with 34 in the all-star game and was MVP. Spurs attendance averaged 11,431 on the year. Bas was named general manager in August. Ticket sales were computerized and rights were negotiated for Dallas' Reunion Arena and Houston's Summit and Astrodome.

On opening nights in the HemisFair Arena, over 17 years, the Spurs have a mark of 14-3 and are working on four straight wins. From the beginning, the Spurs lost the first game ever in 1973, then won the next five openers. After a loss in 1979, the Spurs won five more openers before a loss in 1985 and the current four-win streak.

1980-1981 SPURS

HIGHLIGHTS: Over the summer the club met four major objectives . . . hired Coach Stan Albeck, satisfied George Gervin's contract demands with the incentive bonus plan, had a good draft in Reggie Johnson and Michael Wiley, found center help in George Johnson and Dave Corzine. The incentive plan went in at 36 wins and ended at 56 giving bonus monies to all players, Morris McHone came with Albeck as an assistant coach as the Spurs won a club-tying 52 games and set a new home court win mark of 17 straight games. San Antonio won the Midwest Division by 12 games. The "Bruise Brothers" came into being and gained national recognition by leading the NBA in rebounding and shot blocking. Mike Gale went to Portland for Ron Brewer and George Gervin again was an all-star on every ballot. George Johnson won the blocked shots title and set Spurs records and was named as first Spur ever to all-defensive 2nd unit. Houston won the playoff series 4-3 and the Spurs averaged 10,747 fans in winning a record 34 home games. Albeck was named SPORTING NEWS coach of the year and James Silas was traded to Cleveland as the last of the players coming from Dallas with the franchise.

HIGHLIGHTS: After a summer of shaking changes in the organization — captain James Silas, the last of the original Spurs was traded to Cleveland and Bernie LaReau resigned as the only trainer ever for the club (replaced by John Andersen) — the club opened camp and then ran up a string of 9-1 in jumping atop the Midwest Division. The roster continued undergoing changes with the waiving of rookie Michael Wiley, the 'sticking' of draftees Gene Banks and Ed Rains, the trade for Mike Bratz. With George Gervin out with injuries for three games, Ron Brewer started and scored 39, 40, and 44 to be NBA player of the week. Gervin got 47 at Seattle in his first game back. Paul Griffin injured his knee later leading to surgery and Kevin Restani was waived in December decimating the "Bruise Brothers.' Brewer and Reggie Johnson went to Cleveland for Mike Mitchell and Roger Phegley. Gervin started in his fifth straight all-star game. John Lambert came from Kansas City and Rick Yonakor signed as a free agent to complete the roster. The Spurs Sports Channel was announced in the spring as the Spurs won their fourth NBA divisional title and George Gervin won his fourth scoring title. Johnny Moore won the assists title and George Johnson the blocked shots title. Before entering the playoffs the Spurs beat Milwaukee in the Arena 171-166 in three overtimes. In the playoffs the Spurs eliminated favored Seattle 4-1 before losing 0-4 to eventual champion Los Angeles. Stan Albeck signed a new contract. Gervin was all-pro by everyone.

HIGHLIGHTS: Alvin Robertson was the 1st draft choice, the 7th overall and he was on the Gold Medal-winning US Olympic Team. Dallas won the 1st annual Midwest Rookie Revue; John Paxson averaged 34.0 and Ozell Jones signed after the Revue. John Lucas signed a Houston offer sheet but the Spurs matched and traded him to the Rockets as 15 reported to training camp. The Spurs opened 6-2 but in November lost 7 straight and fell to 6-9. Ten days in December brought waivers on Ron Brewer, Billy Knight from Kansas City for Mark McNamara, Jeff Cook from Cleveland for Edgar Jones, Mark Iavaroni from Philly for a 3rd round, and sent Fred Roberts to Utah. George Gervin started his 7th NBA all-star game and got 23 points. Sam Smith returned as voice of the Spurs replacing Larry Calton. Gervin surpassed 25,000 career points and became 9th on the all-time list. The Spurs made their 11th playoffs in 12 years but lost to Denver 2-3. Alvin Robertson missed the playoffs with a broken foot. Pat Tallman retired as the Arena announcer. Scotty Robertson resigned as assistant coach. The controversy began about where the Spurs would play, the Arena or Freeman Coliseum.

HIGHLIGHTS: The Spurs ended the debate of several months by deciding to continue play in the HemisFair Arena rather than moving to Freeman Coliseum. Gene Banks was traded to Chicago for Steve Johnson and the next day the Spurs selected Alfrederick Hughes as the 14th draftee overall. Don Buse was hired as an assistant coach and Houston won the Midwest Rookie Revue II with a 4-0 record. Hughes, Mike Brittain, Tyrone Corbin all signed as draft choices. Sixteen players reported to fall camp in September but Marc Iavaroni, Johnny Moore and John Paxson remained holdouts. After four straight pre-season losses, the string went to six straight, Iavaroni signed and the Spurs signed free agent Wes Matthews. The Spurs lost their opener in double overtime to the Lakers and the next day Moore signed a new contract. The big news however came the week before the season began when the Spurs dealt legend George Gervin to Chicago in exchange for David Greenwood. The Spurs said Gervin's number 44 will go to the rafters when he is through playing. Spurs had a good December and were 19-12 when Moore contracted a form of meningitis called Desert Fever and was hospitalized. He would be out for the year. Alvin Robertson was named as December player of the month and that would be the first of many honors for him which later included a starting position in the West for the all-star game, the most improved player of the year, defensive player of the year and 2nd team all-pro and all-defensive and a league record 301 steals. Rod Higgins, Ennis Whatley came and went before Jeff Lamp and Ray Williams signed for the year. A deadline trade brought Jeff Wilkins from Utah in exchange for Jeff Cook and Iavaroni. Robertson in February got the second recorded quadruple-double in league history against Phoenix with 10 steals, 11 assists, 10 rebounds, 20 points. At one point the Spurs lost 13 of 14 games and eventually 21 of the final 25 to fall 35-47 on the year, the worst record ever. They did make the playoffs only to lose three straight to the defending champion Lakers. Cotton Fitzsimmons was fired at year's end and in May Bob Weiss replaced him as coach. Red McCombs returned as an investor and board member.

Krystkowiak. In the Midwest Revue III Dawkins came in without a contract but signed during the week. Seventeen players reported to fall camp in October and the Spurs went 3-5 in the pre-season with new Coach Bob Weiss. After a 30-point loss in Denver opening night the Spurs got Weiss his first victory at home over Dallas the next evening. In November Mike Kavy was the five millionth fan to see a Spurs home game and the same night, November 13, the Spurs won their 600th game. Johnny Moore played again after missing most of 1985-1986 with Desert Fever. November and December were horrible for the Spurs at a combined 8-23 record. December saw Walter Berry arrive from Portland for Duckworth and Anthony Jones came in as a free agent. Mike Mitchell underwent knee surgery and missed 11 games. In January the Spurs ran off a season-high seven-game winning string as Berry became a starter and Alvin Robertson started his second consecutive all-star game. Julius Erving made his last call as a player in February just prior to the Spurs sending Thompson to the Lakers for Petur Gudmundsson, Frank Brickowski, two draft choices and cash. At the end of March and the beginning of April the Spurs lost a franchise record 10 straight games and headed away from the playoffs. The final 28-54 mark was the worst ever but the movement was well underway toward youth as four rookies started the final three games. The Spurs posted their 14th straight home winning mark at 21-20.

HIGHLIGHTS: The highlights actually began in May when the Spurs' Bob Bass took a Red Chameleon to New York and the good luck landed the first pick overall in the draft — David Robinson of Navy was named in June. He signed his first contract in November while serving two years of active duty with the US Navy. In the meantime, the Spurs beat Dallas in the home opener and were maintaining a .500 pace up to January 1 when things came unglued and the team lost 26 of the next 35 games and fell from among divisional contenders. Along the way, the Spurs were getting good play from rookie Cadillac Anderson who was filling the role planned for Larry Krystkowiak who held out and was eventually traded to Milwaukee. Johnny Moore's comeback from Desert Fever ended November 19 when he was waived, and Mike Mitchell underwent knee surgery on November 12. Those two were the only links to the Spurs teams of the early 1980s which were conference finalists twice. December 5, 1987, saw the retirement of jersey number 44 in honor of Iceman, George Gervin. A soldout crowd that night saw the Spurs defeat Chicago. Alvin Robertson in January was named by the coaches to the all-star game roster, and Greg Anderson was named to the slam-dunk contest. During February and for the first time in club history the Spurs played before consecutive sellouts in the Arena — they lost to the Lakers and Boston. For the first time ever, Anderson was NBA rookie of the month (March). And during March Red McCombs made a $40 million offer to buy the team. This saga would continue into April and May before a final price was agreed to by McCombs and Angelo Drossos — $47 million. While this was being worked out, the Spurs landed in the playoffs for the 10th time in 12 NBA years. The Lakers, however, dispatched the Spurs in three straight.

HIGHLIGHTS: The summer of 1988 began in grand fashion as the Spurs' new owner Red McCombs hired University of Kansas Coach Larry Brown on June 13th for the departed Bob Weiss. The Spurs finished the month by drafting Willie Anderson out of Georgia with the 10th pick in the 1988 NBA Draft. In July, KSAH radio joined the Spurs team as Spanish radio would now be a part of Spurs broadcasts. WOAI was also back in the fold after a one-year absence and the Spurs announced their front office management team of Red McCombs as chairman, Gary Woods as president, Bob Bass as assistant to the chairman, and Russ Bookbinder as executive vice president. The Spurs finished the summer in August by making two trades. Albert King was obtained from Philadelphia for Pete Myers and Dallas Comegys came from New Jersey for Walter Berry. The Larry Brown era began in October at Southwest Texas State University as the Spurs had 16 players at Veterans Camp. The first month of the season ended with a 5-8 record which included an opening night win against the Lakers, the signing of Mike Smrek, and Willie Anderson being named rookie of the month.

The Spurs played their 1,000th game in the HemisFair Arena on December 8, but lost to Cleveland. The Spurs (2-12 for the month) saw Johnny Dawkins lead the league in Free Throw shooting with a 92 percent average and watched Johnny suffer a peroneal nerve injury that would sideline him for 51 of the next 59 games. The Spurs won only five games in January while losing ten and their record for the season dropped to 12-30 overall. On January 25th, Alvin Robertson sprained his right knee, and the Spurs now had three pre-season starters on the injured list. Over the month of February, the Spurs were 1-12 for their new worst month ever and ended February at 13-42 guaranteeing their fourth losing season. This same 13-42 mark also gave Larry Brown his first losing season in 17 years. The Spurs finished March at 6-10 (19-52 overall) and along the way the team lost their 17th straight road game for a club record — ultimately it would go to 20 straight.

One of the longest seasons in Spurs history finally came to a close in April. The Spurs were 2-9 and finished the year on an eight-game losing string. The final 21-61 mark is a franchise low. The Spurs and Lakers game was a sell-out and was aired by KSAT-TV for the first ever over-the-air regular season home game. Willie Anderson was named to the Basketball Weekly all-rookie team.

HONORS: Willie Anderson, Basketball Weekly all rookie team

Why choose an insurance agent who can't give you a choice?

Agents who work for one insurance company can only give you the policy their company happens to offer. If you want to be sure you have the best protection and price available you need a choice.

As an independent agency representing several companies, like the CNA Insurance Companies, we can show you a wide range of policies for your business, auto, home and life. And we'll use our years of experience to recommend those policies that provide the best protection and value for you.

Call us soon. You'll be making a smart choice.

Motorcraft maintains that victory is equal to the sum of its parts.

With Motorcraft, you get the same quality parts, the same performance the pros do. And we've got a track record to prove it.

Over the years, the Motorcraft Teams have racked up an impressive number of victories, including over 20 National and World Championships. With pros like Bob Glidden and Mark Oswald in IHRA and NHRA Professional Drag Racing. Bill Elliott and Brett Bodine in NASCAR. And Manny Esquerra in HDRA/SCORE Class 7 Off Road competition.

A big part of their winning performance was Motorcraft's quality parts—the same filters, spark plugs, batteries and oil that you buy for your car.

Each original-equipment part is designed to give you the peak performance—and Peace of Mind℠—these pros demand.

40 Month Battery

And there's a full line of quality parts for Ford, Lincoln and Mercury vehicles.

Are you running with the winners?

NBA DEFINITIONS/89-90 ATTENDANCE

SOME NBA DEFINITIONS

ACTIVE LIST: The maximum number of active players is 12 for a team's roster and the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular season game or nine for a playoff game. During the off-season and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST: A player transfered to the injured list due to injury or illness must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT: On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day contracts. After consecutive 10-day contracts a player must be signed for the remainder of the season or be released.

TRADING DEADLINE: No trades are permitted after midnight on February 22. From that point to the end of the regular season, player additions must be made through the waiver procedure, or by signing free agents.

PLAYOFF ROSTERS: Teams must submit a 12-man roster to the league office by midnight on the final day of the regular season. Those 12 players only are eligible for the playoff games involving that team. No player on an NBA roster after March 1 may be added to the playoff roster of another team.

WAIVERS: From August 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time, may be claimed within 10 days. If no teams claim a waived player, the team with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE: On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

XEROX

"In the race for quality there is no finish line."

David T. Kearns,
Chairman and CEO, Xerox Corporation

At Xerox Corporation's Business Products and Systems, our dedication to quality is a never-ending race.

But there are things along the way that tell us we're on the right track. Customer satisfaction is one. Earning the Deming Prize, Japan's highest award for quality, is another. And we received similar awards in Great Britain, France, Holland and Canada.

Equally impressive is our winning the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award. This prestigious award was created by the U.S. Congress to motivate American companies to improve their worldwide competitiveness by improving total quality management.

At Xerox, we call this process "Leadership Through Quality." It means our employees continually strive to listen to customer requirements and to meet those requirements.

We thank our employees for making that commitment, our suppliers for backing it and our customers for demanding it.

They're the real winners of this award.

Athletics and Brainpower. A Winning Combination.

Playing sports is great. It teaches the value of healthy competition. And teamwork. But when an athletic career is over, you still need choices. Balance your life by developing your brainpower. Balance is important. For a person and a college. Incarnate Word College recently spent $7 million on athletics to balance its outstanding academic program.

Now, The College competes with the best and wins in six men's sports and six women's sports in the Heart of Texas Conference.

Come to The College.

Exercise your Brainpower.

Incarnate Word.
The College.

THE SPURS COYOTE

How to Book A Spurs Coyote Appearance

The Coyote makes approximately 150 appearances in addition to his commitments for the Spurs. (This would include pre-season, regular season, and playoffs)

These appearances are scheduled through the Spurs Community Relations Department.

General Booking Procedures:

All the requests must be made in writing to the Spurs director of community relations, and at least two weeks notice is required. Requests are accepted throughout the year, but are subject to the team's practice and playing schedules as well as their personal commitments. Absolutely no appearances are scheduled on game days. Individual appearances are generally one hour in duration.

All requests must include a full description of the event and a detailed map showing how to get to the appearance. In particular, the request should include the following:

- Why the event is taking place
- Who is participating
- How many people are expected
- Who will be the contact person at the event

Charitable Appearances:

Whenever a charitable organization is hosting an event and requesting an appearance, there is no charge involved. This type of appearance includes events such as visits to hospitals, schools, churches, and agencies such as Boys & Girls Clubs, Children's Shelter, Special Olympics, etc. School appearances are handled exclusively through PROJECT GOAL, the schools program administered by the Spurs Community Relations office.

Commercial Appearances:

The Coyote is paid for all appearances made on behalf of a commercial entity. Often these requests come from local businesses who want The Coyote for a sales promotion or grand opening.

Note: If a business is sponsoring a benefit for a charity, the appearance typically is considered a commercial appearance.

All commercial appearance requests will be presented to the vice president responsible for corporate sponsorships to be sure there is no conflict with Spurs sponsor agreements.

Responsibility of the Appearance Sponsor:

Booking entity is responsible for providing both clear maps to the location and parking accommodations. The booking organization also should provide a security escort to and from the parking area to facilitate The Coyotes entrance to (and exit from) the event.

Appearance sponsors also are asked to carefully plan their event and control their facility's maximum capacity as well as provide adequate personnel to maintain the "traffic flow" around the staging or autograph area. To ensure a pleasant experience for The Coyote's appearance sponsors also should provide a table and chair for autograph areas.

If there are any other questions that need to be answered, then please call the Spurs Community Relations Department at (512) 554-7787.
